

PRIVACY POLICY

Basic information

This Policy presents basic information on the purposes and methods of data processing, data security and the handling of data that is processed in connection with the operation of the website or data provided in the contact forms made available on the website.

Principles of data collection

Our servers may automatically record such data as: User's IP address, browser type and operating system. This data may be used for system administration or statistics. The collected data is not used to personally identify a certain User.

Method of data collection

When visiting our website, the User has a possibility to voluntarily use contact forms. In order to provide you with the best service, we encourage you to fill in the field with your company name and business email address.

We do not require any non-business related, publicly available personal data to process your enquiry.

This data is not collected and is only used to contact the User in order to respond to the enquiry.

Purpose of data processing

The data is only used for statistical purposes, concerning the traffic on our website, or for responding to an enquiry sent via the contact form.

The personal data provided is neither passed on to third parties, nor it is used to send commercial information or advertisements.

Principles of data processing

The User will only be contacted in the event that we receive an enquiry from the User sent via the contact form. The feedback is intended to clarify the details of the enquiry or response.

User rights

The User has a possibility to verify if we possess his or her data submitted via the contact form. Each User has the right to change their data or to delete it entirely. To do so, please send a message to the following email address: contact@fcbandthemilkman.pl.

Cookie files Basic information

Cookie files (so-called 'cookies') are IT data (in particular text files), which is stored on the User's device. They are intended for using websites, including ours. Cookies contain anonymous statistical data, not personal one.

Use of cookie files

Cookies are used for the following purposes:

- To obtain anonymous data about how you use the site,
- To facilitate navigation and use of the website by the User.
- To ensure safety standards.

Purpose of cookie files

Cookies adapt the content of the website to the User. They optimise the User's navigation on the website, in particular these files make it possible to recognise a device used to display the website and to set its parameters in such a way that navigation is easy and optimised with regard to individual needs of the User. They also make it possible to display a website adapted to individual needs of the User.

Cookies create statistics thanks to which the Administrator knows which content is most popular. This allows us to constantly improve the website and to construct the content in a way that will be suitable for the visitors.

Disabling cookie files

All modern browsers allow you to enable or disable the cookie mechanism (usually it is enabled by default).

If the User does not wish to receive cookies, they can change the settings of their web browser. Information on how to change cookie settings is available in the Help menu of individual browsers.